This is a kind of a continuation from my "The love between a trio." Please R&R, this is from Hoshido's perspective. NO SPOILERS!

Azura sings sadly along the riverside, staring in disparity at her reflection. After her song she sighs, her aura no longer having the cheer that it usually does. Her trembling hands clasp in front of her chest and she closes her eyes, whispering softly. "Corrinâ€¦"

Corrin who had been watching from a distance silently approaches Azura. Shocked, she turns suddenly. Corrin places a hand on her shoulder, sternly shaking his head in silence. "Noâ€¦!" Glaring at the ex-Nohrian princess. His eyes no longer have the warmth they usually do. She misses his kindness.

"Azura I cannot accept this!" Corrin shouted both hands on her shoulders, fiercely keeping her in place. He holds back his tears, withholding the strength he mustered to attack Azura. "You must absolutely not take _ from me!"

Moving forward.
